WEARINESS.

I'm tired of Jack London's tales of death in the arctic snows, where the blizzard cavors and wails, and freezes the pilgrim's nose. I'm tired of his Yukon flood, the husky and sled barge; I'm tired of his tubs of blood, and butchers who roam at large. I'm tired of the Curwood folk, who slaughter and howl and screech; I'm tired of the bowie stroke; I'm weary of Rex E. Beach. I've soured on the cowboy camp, where the gun men make their plays; I'm sick of the cows that tramp around on the plains and graze. I'm tired of the gifted sleuth, so skillful and smooth and wise, who digs up the hidden truth from its grave in a stack of lies. I'm tired of the stories coarse of life in the crowded flat; of narratives of divorce, and "studies" of this and that. I blow in my fifteen cents for a popular magazine, and sit by my garden fence and read till I'm sore and mean. The stories of smut and mud, the stories of vice's chain, the stories of tubs of blood, all give me a convex pain. The yarns of the dive and slum, the stories of fashion's sins, the stories of thief and bum, of Wallingford guile that wins, all give me a dark green ache deep down in my troubled mind. Ah, me, that a man would make one book of the good old kind!

SUBMARINE HITS FLOATING OBJECT

Maybe Summer Resort Sea
Serpent Is Getting Busy.

Newport, June 6.—The submarine Tarpon, Ensign John W. Barnett commanding, had a narrow escape from serious injury while running submerged towards Point Judith Monday afternoon. The boat struck a submerged floating object with the result that the periscope, forward rudder, and conning tower were damaged. The Tarpon, with other boats of the Third submarine flotilla, having concluded the target work in Coddington Cove, had been ordered to proceed as far as Point Judith for submarine bell signal practice. The boats passed out of Narragansett Bay and were proceeding submerged toward Point Judith at full speed. Ensign Barnett was at the wheel of the Tarpon, and when he struck the object, he felt the boat strike something forward.

Not being able to see, Ensign Barnett ordered his crew to blow out the ballast tanks that the boat might come to the surface. As he did this the object, whatever it was that had been struck by the forward rail, hit the periscope and damaged it.

Miss Amaryllis Gillett Entertains in Honor of Mrs. Sherman—M. and Mme. de la Rocca Hosts at Luncheon.

Miss Amaryllis Gillett entertained a small company at luncheon yesterday at her residence in R street, when her guests were asked to meet Mrs. Sherman, wife of the Vice President, among other guests were Mrs. John W. Dwight, wife of Representative Dwight of New York; Mrs. Ira C. Copley, wife of Representative Copley, of Illinois; and Mrs. C. D. Hill, wife of the secretary to the President.

One of the prettiest and most important weddings of the spring season will be that of Miss Edith Lovell Coyne, daughter of the late Mr. Randolph Coyne, who will be married at noon to-day to Mr. Francis Emile Matthews, of the United States Geological Survey. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. G. Freeman Peter in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Radford, 1241 Thirty-first street. Only a small party of relatives will be present. Mr. William Radford Coyne, of Bethlehem, Pa., will escort and give his sister in marriage. Miss Mary Radford, a debutante of the past season, and Miss Sophie Radford, cousin of the bride, will be her only attendants. Mr. Walter C. Mendelhall will be the best man. A small reception will follow the wedding ceremony, and later in the day Mr. Matthews and his bride will leave Washington for the Pacific Coast, where the former is making a survey of Mount Rainier, in Washington State. In the early winter, they will return to Washington to make their home.

A wedding of much interest in Washington took place last evening in Keller Memorial Lutheran Church at 8 o'clock, when Miss Florence Mae Boesch became the bride of Dr. Roy Cleveland Hefebower, U. S. A. The Rev. Charles F. Wilson officiated in the presence of a large and distinguished company of relatives and friends. A skillful arrangement of palms, roses, and cut flowers made a bower of the church. Mr. W. J. Weber rendered a programme of music before and during the ceremony, and Miss Ethel Dalton sang a soprano solo. Mr. A. Harry Boesch, second cousin of the bride, gave her away. Mr. Clarence E. Boesch, of Chicago, Ill., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Ethel Swain, Miss Annie Peters, Miss Ethel Hefebower, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Isabel Taylor. Mr. H. Luther Boesch, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Dr. Charles S. White, Dr. Joseph D. Rogers, Mr. Joseph R. Carl, and Mr. Ernest Knorr.

The bride wore an exquisite empire gown of duchess satin, with garniture of rose point and duchess lace. Her tulle veil, held with a Juliet cap of rose point lace and lilies of the valley, fell in graceful folds to the end of her long train, and she carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a brooch of pearls and diamonds. The matron of honor wore a gown of yellow crepe meter, with garniture of duchess lace and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses. The bridesmaids wore white tulle and lace, veiled with white chiffon lace, and carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 615 E street, northeast, from 5:30 to 10 o'clock, after which Dr. and Mrs. Hefebower left for New York, whence they will go by water to New Orleans and then to San Antonio, El Paso, and Fort Bayard. They will be at home after June 20 at Fort Bayard. Mrs. Hefebower wore a smart traveling dress of black and white cloth and large black and white hat, with cerise satin bows. The gifts to the bride and bridegroom made a beautiful display of cut glass, silver, and linen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Deliver Dutton, who were married last week in New York, arrived in Washington last evening to be the guests of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Col. and Mrs. Archibald Gracie. Mrs. Dutton was formerly Mrs. Temple-Merritt, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Marburg, of Baltimore, and Miss Christine Marburg are at Lake Mohonk, N. Y., for a few weeks before sailing for Europe for the summer. Miss Marburg entertained Miss Taft at her home in Baltimore and visited her at the White House last season.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville B. Brown are being congratulated on the arrival of a daughter, Elizabeth Litchfield Brown, yesterday morning. Mrs. Brown was formerly Miss Minnie West.

Mrs. L. Miller Trentman and her sisters, the Misses Miller, of Pittsburg, who have been at the New Willard for a week or ten days, will leave Washington this morning for their home. The young ladies were here last week from National Park Seminary.

The First Secretary of the French Embassy and Mme. de la Rocca were hosts at luncheon yesterday, when the guests were the counselor of the embassy, M. Lefevre-Pontalis; the Military Attache and Countess de Chambrun, the new third secretary, Mr. Maugras, and the vice consul, Mr. Demelt.

Mrs. M. E. Campbell has issued invitations for the marriage of her granddaughter, Miss Natalie Reed Campbell, to Mr. John Roper Durand, Jr. The wedding will take place at her residence, 1322 R street, Wednesday evening, June 14, at 8 o'clock. After July 1 Mr. Durand and his bride will be at home at 1322 R street.

Gen. A. W. Greely, U. S. A., has sailed from Boston for London for the coronation. Mrs. Greely will close their home in G street next week, when she will join her daughters, the Misses Greely, in Boston. They are now the guests of their brother-in-law and sister, Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Adams, at Hudson, N. Y., after spending several days visiting in Boston. Mrs. Greely and her daughters will go to South Conway, N. H., where they have taken a cottage for the season. Gen. Greely will join them in July.

PAPAL DELEGATE GIVES DIPLOMAS

Impressive Graduation of Holy Cross Pupils.

ADDRESS BY MR. FITZGERALD

New York Representative Gives Young Women Who Have Completed Studies Good Advice at the National Theater—Should Remain Faithful to Chosen Profession.

Dignified by the presence of Domede Falconio, the apostolic delegate, the annual commencement exercises of the Holy Cross Academy took place at the National Theater yesterday afternoon. An audience, among which were many people prominent in official life in Washington, besides numerous relatives of the graduates from out of town, filled every seat in the theater.

Mr. Falconio, contrary to his usual practice, after conferring the diplomas upon the graduates, addressed them at length. He congratulated the class upon its success and said that so far the achievement, the completion of which the ceremony distinguished, was the class's "best glory."

Presents the Speakers.

The Very Rev. Dr. Edward A. Pace, professor of philosophy at the Catholic University, introduced the speakers. In his remarks before presenting John J. Fitzgerald, representative in Congress from New York, who delivered the address to the graduates, Dr. Pace likened the Congress to a huge school, "the diploma which," said he, "are thinking seriously of lowering the entrance requirements."

Representative Fitzgerald spoke briefly, complimenting them on the successful completion of their studies. He advised them to enter the world with the endeavor early in life, and remain faithful to it. He said he regarded women as the greatest influence upon the social fabric.

The ceremony of conferring of diplomas was one of great dignity. As the name of each graduate was called she came to the center of the stage, where she met at a huge school, "the diploma which," said he, "are thinking seriously of lowering the entrance requirements."

The graduating class consisted of eleven members, those finishing the academic course being Misses Adella Joan Burdine, Katherine Alice Eber, Mary Katherine Machen, Beatrice Viola Mallet, and Irene Louise Shaefer, and those of the conservatory of music, Misses Ethel May Brown, Mary Christine Eber, Mary Cecilia Palmer, Pauline Edgar Sachs, Harriet Ward Ward, and Maria Helena Villegas.

An elaborate musical programme by members of the class, and a number of poems, including one to Archbishop Falconio and a series entitled "Attitudes," which voiced the sentiment of the graduates toward self, school, home, faith, and the future, made up the remainder of the programme.
